A dispatch to-day from New York, asking the Acting Postmaster General, Mr. King, if the Johnson contract for carrying the California mails land been revoked was answered in the negative. The Department holds Mr. Johnson to his contract, but have made arrangement for the carriage of the mails from New York, in case of the failure of the contractor. Hence, the report of a provisional arrangement with Yanderbilt is reliable, so far as the conveyance of the mails from New York is concerned. His bid for the whole service was but a few thousand dollars in excess of that of Johnson.

About eleven P. M., a sailor belonging to the doubt that if the civilized world could see how great that wickedness is, there is Christianity enough and phlanthropy enough to ends it. If the voice of one who has been a lonely traveler and a senderer among them an help but feebly by telling the miseries he has seen, and which has been occasioned by the foreign playe-indee, he will be too glad to be able to render that service.

he will be too glad to be able to sender that service.

Go anywhere along the share of Africa, and one is stire to see, wherever the slare-trade has been carried on natives who form the worst and most wretched population. There is more drunkenness than elsewhere, more trouble of every sort, more wretchedages, a lower morality, more crime, more iniquity, than is ever seen in sity other tribe. It is easy to understand this. The slave-flealer arrives with his cargoes of rum and of goods. It is his interest to keep, I should say almost all the time, the people in a state of drunkenness, that he may on their inhquitous traffic without scrople. So for years it goes on, antil the conscience of the natives is perfectly obsterated. We all know that the Airicaus are poor and degraded, and we all eagle to know that it makes them ten times worse when we ro among them to establish the slave-trade. How hope shall us typier-at these unprincipled men who carry on this iniquitous traffic, and who care nothing for the woes they bring upon the Africans, provided their baracoone ashore are well filled with the spoils of the wars of these unfortunate tribes?

Let us realize for a moment the woes we send on this doomed land. On, the arrival of the slaver on the coast, see the frautic joy with which the natives hall its upproach! The news spreads from village to village, from tribe to tribe. The white man has some and bids them begin their merciless work, and to seasuchate old feuds which were forgotten, to make palavers about witches, to bring accusations of witchersit, to put in force the penalties of slavery, which had been until then forgotted, to sell people for debt, to punish by alavery cases of adultery which were before passed over as excusable in the loose moral code of the Africa.

The Pope, however, dares not to risk a defeat, which would insurinally be followed by the rebellion of all this provinces, and prebably by his own expulsion from Rome. This explains the hesitation of the Papal army, those marches and countermarches about the passes of La Catolica and in the neighborhand of Rimint. Gen. The papers in Wisconsin are commenting on the manner in which Mr. Secretary-of-State Jones discharged hisduties two years ago under the School law which requires that "all moneya" arising from the sale of School and University "land situate in the limits of any county in this "State, shall be set apart and loaned to individ"ual residents of said county." The Madison Journal has propared a table which shows that in twenty-three counties the apportionment was directly and flagrantly in violation of the law. The county of Chippewa, for instance, paid into the fund $16,000 and received back but $500; while on the other hand Dane County, which paid but $25,000, received $100,000. Monroe County, which paid $18,000, received only $700, while Ozaukee, which paid only $800 received back $10,000. Oconto paid $34,000 and received $2,000; Iowa paid $9,000 and received Democratic ticket. The money was so judi-ciously laid out that Mr. Jones was re-elected

It is not for our country to be wantonly and insolently insulted, but redress must be demanded.

The weakness of the colony is its greatest danger, and at the same time an inducement for the repetion of similar offences by similar persons; let it, therefore, be urged upon flet Majesty's Government, that sending only colonists rapidly from Great Britain is the surest way or not only maintaining peace, but of preserving intent fler Majesty's possessions; coupled with this, the House would propose that free and liberal grants of land be given to such emigrants after settling thereon for a certain time. of the same.

Siz: Lhave the honor to inform you of the receipt of an official copy of a protest made by you to the occupation of San Juan Island, in Paget Sound, by a company of the United States troops under my command.

This aforesaid copy was furnished by Captain Horaby, of Her Majest's ship Tribune, to the United States' officer in command at San Juan Island, Capt. Geo. Pickett, of the 9th Infantry of the American Army, together with a communication threatening a joint occupation of the San Juan Island by the forces of Her Majesty's ship Tribune, Plumper and Sattelite, now in the larbor of that Island, by your order.

As the military commander of the department, of Oregon, assigned to that command by the President of the United States, I have the honor to state for your information, that by such auto Vancouver's Island to be treet by laws.

I have reported this attempted outrage to my Government, and they will doubtless seek the proper redress from the British Government.—In the meantime, I have the honor to inform your excellency, I shall not permit a repetition of that insult, and shell retain a command on San Juan Island, to protect its citizens in the name of the United States, until I receive further orders from my Government.

I have the bonor to be, very respectfully, Your obediant servant, W.S. HARNEY, Brigadier General U.S. Army, commanding.

The Occupation of San Juan Island-Its True Cause.

(From the San Juan Bolletin.)

We have obtained, from a reliable source, an interesting statement of the facts to which Gen. Harney briefly siludes. It seems that Mr. Griffin, Hudson's Bay Company's employee and Justice of the Peace at San Juan, had a lot of Sandwich Liand hous-animals noted for their Brittanic Majesty's fleet in a case of such character and importance saths.

The Admiral also took the ground than San Juan Island could not be held to be Brains it serritory, the invasion of which could and should be resisted by the Colomis floverament. He maintained that it was a territory in dispute, and that this soft to be question which General Harmay had raised was an international one, subscription of the country of the subject, the Admiral refused to interfere, dealaring that he would wait orders from his Generament, and not rashly perpetrate in act of war. But on the control of the country of the subject, the Admiral refused to interfere, dealaring that he would wait orders from his Generament, and not rashly perpetrate in act of war. A Visitation of Frogs and Butterplies.— We are informed, says the Oregonian, by sev-ral persons, that the country east of the Clan-amas and Willamette is alive with frogs. They Il appear to be trav-ling west.

The large number of butterflies which have or the last few days been constantly in the air, all passing north, has undoubtedly attracted he notice of the citizens. When upon Mount

EUROPEAN NEWS BY THE ARA-

Performances of the Great Eastern The great event of the week had been the de orture of the Great Eastern for sea. The ve-proceeded down the Thames as far as Pon et on the 7th, and anchored there for the tid perifous delay of fifteen minutes, but the dan-ger was passed, and there was no other ser ous cause for uneasiness. There was not a single regular seaman on board during the river trip, the crew not having joined her. There were perfect orations at Greenwich, Blackwell, Woolwich and other points, where immense crewds had assembled. At Purfleet the ship swung round to her single anchor in beautiful style, and the anchor, Trotman's patont, never yielded an inch from the spot where it dropped. On the 8th, the Great Eastern got up steam and weighed anchor at 4:94 A.M., when she started from Purfleet for the Nore. As on the preceding day, she was accompanied by tugs; vessel was put about, and went completely round in less than three-quarters of a mile. At 12:20 the vessel anchored at the Nore. She was to leave the Nore on the moraling of the 9th, and steam away easily for Portiand, Dorsetshire, which harbor she was expected to reach early on the moraling of the 19th. Much regret was felt that serious illness prein the triumph.

The Great Eastern left the Nore at fifteen min-utes past line o'clock on the Morning of Friday, and was off Dover at 3 P. M., with strong west-erly winds and thick rain.—English Paper.

The immediate dangers which threaten Europe and Germany, and the necessity to subordinate party feelings to the common cause of German unity, have brought together a number of men, belonging partly to the Democratic, partly to the constitution, and the common action required to attain this object.

They have agreed to the following resolutions as substidary to the decisrations put forth at Eisensch on the 17th of July, and at Hanover on the 18th of the same month:

1. We see in the present political situation great dangers for the independence of our German Fatherland, which have been increased rather than diminished by the peace concluded between Austria and France.

2. These dangers arise from the imperfect federal constitution of Germany, and they can only the avoided by a speedy change in this constitution.

tional Assembly should be called.

4. In the present circumstances it is only by Prussia that effectualisteps can be taken to reach this end; to secure the initiative of Prussia, must, therefore, be the object of our efforts.

5. Should Germany be again threatened from without, before the Central Government is definitely constituted, the conduct of her military forces and diplomatic relations abroad must be confided to Prussia.

Having spoken at Hastings on Mon-iay night, then at Stillwater on Tuesday after-noon, the orator was naturally pretty tired for noon, the orator was naturally pretty tired for speaking again at St. Paul on Tuesday evening. The effort, though not so long, perhaps, as usual well maintained Mr. Hale's reputation. He was followed, at the call of the andience, by S. P. Jennison, Esq., in a few humorous re-narks.

Miss Mulcoh sustains the impression you derwe from her books—modest, sensible, sincere. Ste is tall, slender, with fine blue eyes, light bown harr, clear English complexion, and a fase lighted up by sensibility. There is nothing of the strong-minded air about her, that unmistable disease with which so many literary ladies are sflicted. She is ferniume, as God meant woman to be, and has "a soft low voice, which is a very pleasant thing."

She was enjoying a common cane-backed Yankee rocking chair, which a friend had sent her You can have no idea how suggestive of home a rocking chair becomes to a wandering Yankee—it is an epitome of New England—an oasis of comfort in the midst of a desert of four legged, stiff, unrestful abomunations; the rocking chair was a bond of sympathy at once. She asked many questions concerning America, and expressed a warm desire to visit it—a wish, I trust some day to be accomplished. She had a hearty laugh at the idea of having been personified in New York for so many months.

—Hon, Richard W. Thompson, formerly Rewell maintained Mr. Hale's reputation.

He was followed, at the call of the audience, by S. P. Jeanison, Esq., in a few humorous remarks.

Here the meeting properly ended, and the lights on the balcony were put out.

A few democrats in the Hotel around the balcony, and outside on the outskirts of the crowd, persisted in almost dragging out Hon. Tom Marshall, of Kentucky, to speak, in which they finally succeeded, when, notwithstanding Mr. Marshall was laboring under severe indisposition, he proceeded, (after a short interval to recover himself thoroughly,) to speak of the Missouri Compromise; of its authors and supporters, the oid big giasts of the land; and of its destroyer, the little giant, whose machinations had broken down that time-honored compromise, had legislated evil war into a Territory of the Union; and had given occasion for the great split in the Democratic party, out of which had arisen the Black Republican party of the land. The big gants, alas, he said, were all dead. Adams was gone, and Calhoun, and Clay, and Webster—all gone—and he wished the Almighty, when he took to himself those great giants, had also sees it, for the good of this country, to have removed from amongst us certain "little giants" who afflicted us! It was wonderful what a large amount of mischief a small amount of brains might infliet—how much wise statesmanship a demagogue might spoil and destroy. In auciest Greec, there once existed a mighty temple—the temple of "Diana of the Ephesians." The piety and wealth of Greece had been for ages concentrated upon fits adornment and extension, until it had become a wonder of the world. But there were intellegiants in those days also. There was a amall amount of brains might infliet—how much wise statesmanship a demagogue might spoil and destroy. In auciest Greece, there once existed a mighty temple—the temple of Diana better was a small giant who, utterly unable to build such a temple, could think of no other way of making himself famous or infamons in all time to come, except by sett Hon. The above is but an imperfect sketch of the faying a live which Mr. Marshall gare to Stephen A. Douglas, whose friends had been so officious in urging him to speak, evidently against Mr. Marshall's own gentlemanly instincts, but, on their part, evidently with the idea that, being a Southern man and an old Clay Whig, he might be expected to pitch into Mr. Hale, and break the force of the Republican meeting, by a Union-Saving Speech! They caught, however, a very bad Tartar!—that's all! seven persons are taxed for $100,000 and over. He will then unload himself and immediately go to bed. After a succe of fifteen minutes he will rise, dress himself, take a glass of beer, milk the cow, kill the hog and dress it, cook fresh pork for breakfast, after which he will eat a wolf's meal. Douglas' personal assault on Judge Black, in his Wooster, Ohio, speech, says: We can easily imagine the mortification and annoyance which Judge Douglas must have felt when he found that his sophisms were exposed and related, and his first essay on constitutional law proved to be filled with egregious blunders and evidences of the most avant ignorance. We can imagine that he was petulant and angry, particularly as the exposure took place when he was most anxious to pass himself off as an infalible expounder of the science and practice of government. He was quite wrong, however, to iose his temper. It was a clear evidence of his own conviction that he was worsted. Whenever one of the parties to a controversy abandous facts and arguments and resorts to abuse and scurribous epithets, it is pretty conclusive proof that he is beaten. The Transit Trade with the Western States of America.

When Sir J. Pakington announced that the navy would have to be recunstructed, the term was considered at the time far fetched and an exaggeration; subsequent revelations, however, prove that he correctly appreciated the changes which were required to be made to meet the wants of the age, arising from the improvement in steam, guinners and naval construction. A similar reconstruction of our octain mall routes must shortly follow, and also of goods and passenger transit between Europe and the Great Western States of America. To understand the question in all its bearings it will be necessary to go back a quarter of a contury to trage the changes that have taken place since the establishment of steamblings and railways. Prior to the optening of the Eric Cand, is 1839, the produce of the States burdering on the Lakes passed down the St. Lawrence, which was the only outlet to the seabord at Quebre; but no sooner was that Eric Canal, opened, districts the seasons when the seasons were the content of the state that the content of the seasons of the state that the content of the season of the Canal, the content of the season of the seasons of the state that the content of the seasons of the seas

A Fast Womau. The Paris correspondent of the Courier das Etats Unis, gives the following account of an extraordinarily clever and brilliant "fast" woman, whose power of fascinating and beggaring men has been wonderful: men has been wonderful:

"Among the young spenthrifts, noticed in the journals of the day, is the name of a Prussian price, count or baron Enchel, who has caten up in less than four years, a fortune of more than six millions of francs, all for the TWO THOUSAND BDLS, COMmore than six minons of france, art or the sweet eyes of a woman well known in Paris as the Marchioness of Pava. Borne down by his excessive expenses, the artist quitted France for a time to mend his fortunes abroad. His companion, left at home during his absence, quitted it one fine morning to follow Lord Ward, known in London by his conquests of this kind. The noblemay did not retain her long; he economized too much the wealth of which she was greedy. Returned to Paris in quest of a new position, which was the hight of hor ambition, she encountered the young Marquia of Pavia, brother of the Portuguese Embassador, whom she so fascinated that young Marquia of Pavia, brother of the Portuguese Embassador, whom also so fascinated that he espoused her legally and religiously, promising her a million france in case they should separate from incompatability of temper. This eventuality was not long in coming. The new Marchinoess could not consent to live in the heart of Portugal, whither her husband had taken her; so, after making useless efforts to retain her, he counted out the millions and let her go. At the end of a year the million kad vanish-d, so the Marchinoess was obliged to sell furniture, horse, and carriages, and to take refuge in furnished lodgings, whore she spent her last cent. He was hardly twenty-eight years old, while she was over forty! He covered her with the rarest diamonds and peuris that could be found. He bought for her a country seat near Paris, which is a princely chateau. She gave every week splendid dinners, but she had for guests only men, and this tornented her. Her ambition, when all else was satisfied, was to attract to her, by her splendid style of life, women who were not of the demi monde. This impossible thing caused her to blush amid her opulence. Hoping to triumph over this obstacle, by softening the conscience of the public, she commenced to build in the great avenue of the Champs Eysees a mansion which would be a wonder. A man has ten chances of being struck by lightning to one of drawing a prize in a lottery, and all experience shows that the drawing of a prize, when such a rare event does occur, is the worst accident that can be all a man. A striking illustration of this fact has just occurred in New Orleans. A young man who had lost all his money at a gaming table, staked a lottery ticket as his last throw, and lest it. The winner of the ticket; having no confidence in lotteries, proposed to throw dice for it at twenty five cents a chance. A bystander who mever had a hundred dollars in his life won the ticket, and in a few days found himself the lucky holder of a prize of $25,000. He at once invested a round sum in lewelry and flashy garments, and is leading a life of lincessant revelry which will soon dispose of his secidental fortune and leave him poorer than he was before, by the possession of perverted tastes and destructive habits. The man who first held the ticket, on hearing that it had drawn a prize, became possessed of an excitement which browght on brain fewer and Man—Danger of Reading Indian Novels.

[From the Boson Herald, Sept. 17]

The young Hiawatha who eloped with the fair daughter of a respected citizen of Dorchester has been heard of by the father of the girl, who, with his friends and neighbors, has been searching and telegraphing coastantly since the infairuated girl disappeared. The romantic young lady who was as unxious to become the bride of a redakin was attending school in this city, and on Thursday morning last she procured five dollars of her father to purchase books with. She also leit home at an unausuly early hour, m order, as abe said, to make her purchase see before the morning seasion, as a she would otherwise be obliged to transact the business at most recess, and thus be deprived of her diliner at home. Nothing was suspected, and she came into town early, where she met her Indian lover, and the twain started upon the cars from the Worcester Depot. They proceeded to Warren, a few miles from West Brookfield, where the abortginal has two brothers reading, about sw miles from the railroad. It was at first supposed that the ill-assorted pair had gone to Warren, and a ill-assorted pair had gone to the fuglities. The telegraph was then put in requisition, and messages were dispatched to the fuglities. The telegraph was then put in requisition, and messages were dispatched to all the railroad depots within a hundred miles.
